Yes, I know that the home page hasn't been updated in a while, but needless to say, things have been busy! On top of a new day job, I've been saddled with the responsibility of raising a three year old full time as my wife is now required to hang out at the hospital on bed rest until our second child pops out. It's been quite the challenge the past week to keep the fort under control and provide entertainment for the little one.

But anyway, the details of my life are inconsequential to the real matter at hand, namely the BlackWidow and YellowJacket! More stock is on the way, and should be done manufacturing sometime mid-October. Please sign up for notification on the product page, so that you can be notified when they are available. We've ordered quite a few this time around, so there should be plenty.

As always, feel free to email if you have other questions or concerns. You can find our email contact info on the contact us page. My response might be delayed a bit, but I will get back to you.

Stay tuned kids...
